WELCOME TO THE WINTER ISSUE OF TROJANS TODAY, TROJANS for Life

In this issue of Trojans Today, Trojans for Life, we celebrate some remarkable students, faculty, and alumni whose quiet dedication makes a meaningful impact on important causes and our Bishop Chatard community. Often working behind the scenes, they embody humility, selflessness, and a commitment to serving others, prioritizing the greater good over personal recognition.

We're excited to showcase the incredible spirit of fellowship and service displayed by our student body during the holiday season. From collecting over 11,000 cans of food during our can drive, to spreading cheer through Christmas on Crittenden, the true meaning of Christmas was truly vibrant at BCHS.

Additionally, this issue features our annual report card. The data affirms that Bishop Chatard students graduate well-prepared for the challenges of college, many with a head start thanks to AP and Dual Credit opportunities. Yet life as a Trojan extends beyond academics. As you'll discover, Bishop Chatard students thrive in extracurricular pursuits, with higher levels of club, team, and activity participation often correlating to higher GPAs.

Finally, we'd love to hear from you! Share your thoughts or updates with us by visiting alumni.BishopChatard.org/share-news.

President

This is an exciting time to be a Trojan! BCHS has received numerous accolades in recent years thanks in large part to the incredible talent and dedication of our faculty, staff and administration along with the generous support of our community. What often goes unheralded, however, is the planning that underpins the transformative educational environment at Bishop Chatard.

For the past 16 years Bishop Chatard has developed and implemented four strategic plans serving as the foundation and roadmap for our growth and continuous improvement, all centered around the “whole person” formation of our students. Over this time, we put in place plans that included all aspects of our mission. These were developed with input from the students and their families, faculty and staff, the Board of Regents, alumni and school leadership. Here are just a few highlights of the results of these strategic efforts.

A focus on developing Campus Ministry and Theology leadership has led to dynamic student retreat and service opportunities, a strong Theology curriculum and faith formation support to our faculty and staff. This has greatly enhanced our ability to incorporate faith into all areas of the curriculum and extracurricular activities.

We have put in place meaningful professional development for our faculty that has provided for personal growth as well as innovations in the delivery of our expanding and evermore rigorous curriculum.

Our focus on providing quality administrative leadership of our faculty and staff has been foundational to the success of our students.

Over the last 16 years we have raised over $20,000,000 through our Annual Fund primarily for tuition assistance and teacher compensation. This has allowed us to attract and retain the highest quality educators and make Bishop Chatard affordable to all who desire our educational experience for their children.

Our enrollment has increased from a low of 650 to a current enrollment of 760 and expected to grow again to approximately 780 for the 2025/2026 school year. Approximately 50% of our students require financial aid (in addition to the School Choice Scholarship) to afford a Bishop Chatard education. We are blessed by the generosity of our community to be able to make this possible each year.

We have also raised $7.9 million in two capital campaigns that allowed us to expand our campus and add and renovate much needed facilities, as well as grow our endowments. In addition, we have embarked on an historic capital campaign to further expand our facilities and capabilities in meeting the needs of all of our students.

As we wrap up the work being done to develop the 2025-2028 strategic plan, please pray that we can continue to fulfill our sacred mission for the benefit of our students and the North Deanery parish communities. Thank you for all you do in support of this wonderful ministry of Catholic education at Bishop Chatard!

The Indiana Department of Education's Graduates Prepared to Succeed (GPS) performance dashboard showcases how students acquire the essential knowledge and skills needed for success beyond high school. As the global economy evolves and technology advances, it is crucial for students to build these competencies throughout their K-12 education, creating strong connections to college and career pathways that prepare them for life after graduation.

One key metric the GPS measures is the percentage of 12th-grade students who fulfill graduation requirements. As shown in the chart above, Bishop Chatard currently achieves a 100% Graduation Pathways completion rate.

SCIENCE TEACHER AMANDA HORAN AWARDED PRESIDENTIAL AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN MATH AND SCIENCE

In January, BCHS science teacher Amanda Horan received the Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching (PAEMST)—the nation’s highest honor for STEM educators. Presented by the National Science Foundation on behalf of the White House, this prestigious award recognizes outstanding teachers who make a lasting impact in math and science education.

As a recipient, Horan will be honored at a special ceremony in Washington, D.C., where she’ll receive a certificate signed by the president and a $10,000 grant from the NSF. It’s a well-deserved recognition for her dedication to inspiring the next generation of scientists and innovators!

Amanda has been an integral part of Bishop Chatard for 14 years, teaching Physics, Chemistry, Honors Chemistry, and Advanced Placement Chemistry. Before her teaching career, Amanda worked in pharmaceutical manufacturing at Eli Lilly & Company. She transitioned into education through the Woodrow Wilson Indiana Teaching Fellowship in 2010, driven by her passion for working with young people.

Amanda’s dedication to innovative teaching led her to adopt Modeling Instruction, a hands-on, inquiry-based teaching method that enhances student understanding. She also leads workshops to support fellow educators and mentors new teachers as an instructional coach. Her implementation of standards-based assessment has further refined her approach, helping students achieve their goals and clarifying expectations.

In 2023, Amanda was honored as the top K-12 educator in the Archdiocese of Indianapolis with the St. Theodora Guerin Excellence in Education Award. She is also an active contributor to the academic community, serving as a reader for the AP Chemistry exam and presenting at national conferences like the Biennial Conference on Chemistry Education.

Amanda holds a B.S. in Chemical Engineering, summa cum laude, from Purdue University, and an M.S. in secondary science education from Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis.

“Through her continued commitment to serve our students, Mrs. Horan lives out our mission daily,” says BCHS Principal, John Hasty. “Her personal commitment to faith, continuous learning, leadership, and service profoundly impacts our students and staff, inside and outside the classroom.”

Reflecting on the award, Amanda shared, “Early in my career, I wrote a recommendation letter for PAEMST for a teacher I deeply admired. To now receive this award myself is an unbelievable honor. I believe in the potential of every student, and I show this by maintaining high expectations while supporting them on their educational journey. Being recognized with this award reaffirms that teaching is my true calling and that my impact extends beyond the classroom.”

“Students often credit Mrs. Horan with helping them find a love for science and learning,” continued Mr. Hasty. “We are excited to see her earn this well-deserved and distinguished recognition. It is a testament to her hard work, dedication, and transformational impact.”

LET THEM LEAD – TROJAN STYLE

J.T. FUNK

Vice President of Institutional Advancement

If you know me, you probably know I love hockey. I played in high school here and at Saint Louis University, and I've been coaching for 11 years, including four with the Central Indiana Knights. Originally, the Knights were a joint effort between us and Cathedral High School as the Cathedral-Chatard Hockey Club. In 2013-2014, we became the Central Indiana Knights, expanding to include more schools and provide hockey opportunities for all high school students, regardless of whether their school had a team.

I mention this because, while coaching is a passion and hobby of mine, it has greatly enriched my role at BCHS. I'm always seeking new strategies to coach our kids and exploring resources on leadership and personal development. These insights not only benefit our team but also contribute to the growth of our students and our community.

I recently came across a book by John U. Bacon titled Let Them Lead. It chronicles the author's experience coaching the Ann Arbor Huron River Rats High School hockey team in Michigan during the early 2000s. The River Rats were the worst team in high school hockey when he took the reins, finishing the prior year with 0 wins, 22 losses, and 3 ties. By applying his leadership style and empowering the team to lead themselves, they transformed into one of the top high school hockey teams in Michigan. Bacon's book has prompted me to reflect on not only our hockey team, but on our broader community.

OUR CULTURE,
FAITH, AND GUIDING
GIVE US REASON TO STEP BACK AND
LET OUR STUDENTS
LEAD, OFTEN
REVEALING LEADERS AND UNSUNG
SOMETHING GREATER.

The underlying theme of this issue of Trojans Today, Trojans for Life highlights many perspectives, stories, and accounts of unsung heroes demonstrating leadership here at Bishop Chatard. While I could share many more stories, what impresses me most is how we utilize some of Bacon's lessons to create a culture where individuals are empowered to lead themselves. Through numerous clubs, teams, class offerings and peer ministries our students and community members are provided abundant opportunities to lead.

Bacon's approach was to instill a culture of pride and hard work, embodied by a phrase they often used to push themselves to greatness: "Huron—it's harder here," a sentiment that is aligned with our continual drive to strive for excellence. What sets us apart is the presence of the Holy Spirit and a shared foundation rooted in faith, and an educational experience modeled on the teachings of Jesus Christ and the Catholic Church. Our culture, faith, and guiding principles empower us to step back and let our students lead, often revealing leaders and unsung heroes called to something greater. Perhaps we can take a page from the Ann Arbor team and use our own guiding phrase: "Bishop Chatard—the Holy Spirit lives here."

BEYOND THE SPOTLIGHT:

UNSUNG STUDENT

Heroes

Bishop Chatard is filled with unsung heroes—including students who quietly go above and beyond, making a real difference in their communities. Whether behind the scenes or lending a helping hand, they show what it means to lead with humility, dedication, and selflessness, always putting others and the greater good before seeking recognition.

MAGGIE MCGOWAN

Maggie McGowan may not appear in the Bishop Chatard football stat sheet, but her impact as a student manager is undeniable. A lifelong football fan, she grew up immersed in the sport, learning with her dad and predicting plays during televised games. When she joined Bishop Chatard, she quickly became a dedicated student manager.

From the start, Maggie impressed players and coaches with her football knowledge and adaptability. Assigned to the freshman team, she quickly earned trust. When asked to lead drills, she hesitated but stepped up, showcasing leadership that would define her role.

By sophomore year, Maggie had joined varsity, handling equipment, running the clock, and tracking plays on game nights. Wearing a headset, she quietly monitors the field, speaking up only when necessary—like spotting 10 players on the field or a looming play-clock violation. “I know my place,” she says. “But if something needs to be said, I’ll say it.”

Head coach Rob Doyle calls her an unsung hero, praising her football IQ and calm demeanor. “She’s in tune with everything we do,” he says. “Her ability to step in seamlessly has earned respect across the program.”

With humility and humor, Maggie ensures everything runs smoothly, making the program feel like home. “I do whatever is needed,” she says. Her story proves that leadership isn’t always about touchdowns—it’s about dedication, knowledge, and selflessness behind the scenes.

“I DO WHATEVER IS NEEDED”

Maggie McGowan

A young Bryce and his heroine: his mother Tristan.

BRYCE HACKMAN

Bishop Chatard sophomore Bryce Hackman would say his mother was a hero, but he is undoubtedly following in her footsteps. When Bryce's mother Tristan passed away in 2015, her choice to be an organ donor saved multiple lives. Now, Bryce carries on her legacy as an advocate for organ donation through the Indiana Donor Network.

As a speaker at the organization's galas and a volunteer at Donor Hero Camp—designed for children of donor heroes like himself—Bryce is dedicated to raising awareness.

"I care about this because of my mom," he said. "My mother is a hero because she saved four lives."

The need for organ donors is urgent. According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 20 people die each day waiting for an organ, with over 113,000 currently on waiting lists. In Indiana, nearly 4 million Hoosiers are registered donors, but the demand still far exceeds availability. Residents can register through organizations like the Indiana Donor Network or while obtaining a driver's license, learner's permit, or state ID.

Bryce's grandmother, Tammy, is also a champion for the cause. "Tristan was a giving person all her life, and she loved to help people," she said. "I know she'd be pleased that others now have the opportunity to live fuller lives."

Engaging and full of creative ideas, Bryce suggests integrating organ donation into school health curricula, as his teacher Mrs. Bultinck did, and maybe incorporating it into driver's education courses.

An inspiring young man with a big heart, Bryce has transformed loss into purpose. In doing so, he proves that heroism runs in the family.

RECOGNIZING OUR VOLUNTEERS

MARGARET RUFFING

Executive Director of Development

For most volunteers, volunteer leadership roles come with a commitment and investment of time and resources to support a cause they care about. For those who step even further in as leaders or chairs, the role involves assuming the responsibility of guiding the group forward.

I hope you'll join me in recognizing and thanking the many leaders—some of our greatest champions—who have volunteered this past year to make our fundraising efforts not only possible but successful. Together with our Board of Regents and Alumni Board, who regularly assist in our fundraising efforts, we had 70 Trojans volunteer as Table Captains for our biggest fundraiser of the year: our Annual Fund Dinner.

Even more champions for Bishop Chatard took on a variety of roles. Chatard-a-Bratton alone brought us: 46 co-hosts for gift-gathering parties, 15 leaders on the CAB Advisory Committee, 12 auction logistics and decoration committee members, 26 team basket leaders, and nearly half of our faculty and staff, who stepped in to provide an auction item. Each of these roles helped us create an engaging and exciting Chatard-a-Bratton—even the Trojan Horse approved and donated to the auction!

These are just the champions who volunteer through our development office! More champions across BCHS serve through our Trinity Club, bringing joy to our faculty with monthly luncheons and meditative mornings with their monthly praying of the Rosary. Our theatre champions contribute their design and building expertise, while our music and athletic programs benefit from dedicated volunteers. Alumni career speakers, athletic teams, and BC Club parents also step up to help, whether in the Spirit Shop or beyond.

Every one of our volunteers makes a difference for our students each day. I sincerely thank everyone who has taken on a volunteer role and contributed to something greater than ourselves in building a vibrant and sustainable program at Bishop Chatard. Our volunteers demonstrate that the strength of an institution reflects the dedication of its volunteers.

May God bless our generous volunteers—thank you, thank you, thank you!

TROJANS SUPPORTING OUR TROOPS: A New Initiative at BCHS

Jeff Getty, a current teacher at Bishop Chatard High School and a proud veteran of the United States Marine Corps, has launched a heartfelt initiative to connect the BCHS community with alumni currently serving in the military. The new club, Trojans Supporting Our Troops, aims to bridge the gap between home and the frontlines by fostering a supportive and enduring connection between BCHS alumni, students, and military personnel.

Jeff’s inspiration for starting the club comes from his own experience as a deployed Marine. “I remember what it felt like when I was deployed and disconnected from my family, friends, and home. But when we got a mail drop and I saw letters from my former teachers letting me know they still thought of me and supported me from Chatard, it made that disconnect much easier to deal with,” Jeff shared. “If we could reach alumni who are currently serving and let them know they are not forgotten, it would make a world of difference. I want them to know they are still a valued part of our community, even after graduation.”

The club’s mission includes honoring service members through prayer, letters of encouragement, and acts of support such as care packages. Jeff has currently compiled a list of service men and women to be honored by the club.

Trojans Supporting Our Troops meets monthly to discuss updates on BCHS alumni in the military, write letters, and organize efforts to support them. The club’s mission statement perfectly captures its purpose:

Our mission is to foster a supportive and enduring connection between our Bishop Chatard High School community and alumni serving in the military, both home and abroad. Guided by the values of faith, service, and solidarity, we strive to honor and uplift those who defend our freedoms through acts of care, encouragement, and prayer. We commit to bridging the gap between home and the frontlines by providing moral support, practical assistance, and a sense of belonging to our courageous alumni. In doing so, we honor their sacrifice and reflect the love and compassion of Christ in every action.

Jeff Getty and the members of Trojans Supporting Our Troops invite the entire BCHS community to join them in this meaningful effort. Together, they aim to ensure that no service member feels forgotten, and that the spirit of Bishop Chatard’s support extends well beyond the walls of the school. BCHS alumni, friends, or family members who would like to add someone to the list can email Jeff directly at jgetty@bishopchatard.org.

ANNUAL FUND

DINNER & ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

2024

THE SPIRIT OF GIVING: BISHOP CHATARD'S ANNUAL FUND

At Bishop Chatard High School, our commitment to excellence extends beyond the classroom. The Annual Fund serves our two paramount financial commitments: tuition assistance and teacher compensation. In addition, it helps ensure the ongoing care and enhancement of our beautiful campus.

Each year, we launch our fundraising efforts in grand fashion with the Annual Fund Dinner, a celebratory event that brings our community together in support of our students and faculty. This gathering is also a time of recognition, as we honor outstanding individuals with our prestigious Achievement Awards. This past August, we were proud to present our first Lifetime Achievement Award to Joe Ford '69, whose unwavering dedication and passion for Bishop Chatard exemplify the true Trojan spirit.

But our fundraising doesn't stop there. Throughout the year, we host a variety of events that allow alumni, families, and friends to make a lasting impact. The Harv Sutton Memorial Golf Outing, Chatard-a-Bratton, and our Day of Giving each offer unique opportunities to support the school while fostering a deep sense of community. Even our students take an active role, organizing their own fundraising initiatives—an invaluable experience that teaches them the power of generosity and the direct impact of their efforts.

As you explore this publication, we invite you to relive the highlights of these meaningful initiatives and celebrate the achievements of those who make them possible. We hope to see you at a future event, where you can experience firsthand the camaraderie, joy, and inspiration that define the Bishop Chatard community. Until then, enjoy reading about our incredible Achievement Award honorees and the many ways BCHS continues to thrive!

STUDENT MINISTRY LEADERS/ SERVING WITH SPIRIT

MATT HILTON

Director of Faith Formation

Ministry, almost as a rule, is a matter of behind-the-scenes work. At the heart of effective ministry is a process of creating contexts in which others can experience the presence of God in their lives. It is humble, joyful work. Every Thursday, when we gather as a school community to celebrate the Eucharist, our students have an opportunity to engage in the kind of behind-the-scenes work I am describing. To make these weekly liturgies possible, Campus Ministry is supported by a dedicated team of students who volunteer their time to help us transform the gym into a worship space and then back again.

Arriving at 7:15, our students joyfully take on a host of responsibilities. Some students come to help us set up the nearly two hundred chairs on the floor and to roll out the bleachers. These students take great care to line up each row and tidy the gym. Other students have taken on the responsibility of making sure that the statue of Mary is carefully brought from the main office to our improvised sanctuary.

Other students still have committed to serving as sacristans. These students take great care in placing the linens on the altar, setting the credence table with the gifts to be transformed into the body and blood of our Lord, and making sure that the proper readings for the day are ready for when the priest arrives. After Mass these same students reverently return our Lord in the Eucharist back to the tabernacle in the SBC chapel.

Last but far from least, we are blessed each week by the music of our band and choir, who add depth, body, and power to our liturgy. Of course, this is only possible because they have dedicated hours to rehearsal, tirelessly preparing to elevate our prayer through their gift of song.

The joyous spirit of service shown by these young people, who selflessly give their time to support their community and honor God, are what BCHS is all about. Like so much of what happens at BCHS, it is unsung heroes like these that make it possible for us to live out our mission.

BCHS BRINGS BELOVED CLASSIC ANNIE TO LIFE THIS SPRING

BCHS is thrilled to announce its upcoming spring musical, Annie! Coming to the stage April 10-12, this heartwarming production, based on the beloved comic strip and timeless Broadway hit, promises to bring joy and inspiration to audiences of all ages. Set against the backdrop of 1930s New York City, the story follows the adventurous young orphan Annie as she searches for her parents and discovers the true meaning of family.

Director and choreographer Holly Stults reflected on the thoughtful process behind selecting a musical or play for the school year. "Choosing a musical or play title is not as easy (or fun!) as it may seem! We proudly put education before entertainment at Bishop Chatard, and there are many other factors to consider," she explained. Stults elaborated on criteria such as appropriateness, the school's ability to manage the technical aspects of the show, the availability of student talent to cast the musical, and whether the title would appeal to BCHS audiences.

"We like to rotate between contemporary and traditional musicals each year, and Annie definitely fits the traditional musical profile," Stults said. "No doubt we will have some 'hard-knock' rehearsals, but by the time the show opens, the 'sun will come out' and shine on the cast and crew!"

With a talented cast of students, vibrant choreography, and memorable songs like "Tomorrow" and "It's the Hard Knock Life," this performance is sure to be one of the highlights of the school year. Join us as we bring this classic tale to life on the BCHS stage!

STUDENT LIFE UPDATE

ANDY REEL
Director of Student Life

As I reflect on my first semester as Director of Student Life, I find myself tremendously impressed and inspired by the work of students and staff alike. There are so many amazing things happening at Bishop Chatard that are only made possible by the diligent work of student leaders and staff volunteers. Thank you to all of our unsung heroes leading the initiatives to enhance the student experience!

A significant part of this success rests on the shoulders of the Student Council and their teacher moderators. The Homecoming Dance was a roaring success, with a record 488 tickets sold, capping off a week of class competitions like Powderpuff Football, hallway decorations, and themed out-of-uniform days.

Beyond these celebrated traditions, there have been a myriad of new opportunities for students. Campus Ministry and Student Life teamed up to host a Dodgeball Tournament to raise money for Hurricane Helene relief. A Christmas Advent Calendar full of student ideas brought events like a Winter Pep Session, a cookie baking/decorating contest, and an ugly sweater day. Student members of Latinos Unidos played guitar and sang in the cafeteria to celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month.

Several new clubs have been started or revived by student leaders and staff, including the Film of the Month Club, Hiking Club, International Food Club, and Video Game Design Club. These clubs join the varied selection of student opportunities available at Bishop Chatard. Our Performing Arts program continued to dazzle audiences throughout the fall semester with two music concerts, the fall play, three improv comedy shows, and two performances of student written/directed plays.

The continued success of traditions and the creation of new opportunities can only occur with students and staff who dedicate themselves fully to the betterment of the student experience. Thank you to all of our unsung heroes!

BEYOND THE SPOTLIGHT/ ALUMNI MARK MALOOF & TOM O'CONNOR

DEANNA MURPHY

*Director of Alumni Relations
& Special Events*

Mark Maloof and family.

High school is often regarded as a pivotal time in a young person's life, marked by academic challenges, social dynamics, and personal growth. While many graduates achieve notable success in various fields, there are many alumni who make significant impacts in their communities, but may not always be in the spotlight. We are fortunate to count many such unsung heroes among our alumni population, and I would like to highlight two in particular: Mark Maloof and Tom O'Connor, both proud members of the BCHS Class of 1974.

Mark and Tom selflessly took on the responsibility of planning their 50th class reunion last fall. Balancing work, family, and the demands of daily life, they worked diligently to put on the best weekend celebration they could. On top of planning the event, they also encouraged their classmates to give back to Bishop Chatard High School. The class raised an astonishing $10,000 for tuition assistance! When I spoke with Mark after the event, he shared that he always strives to leave things better than he found them. Thank you, Mark and Tom, for continuing to support the Bishop Chatard High School legacy!

ALUMNI UPDATES

PATRICK PRICE lives full-time in a 45-foot motorcoach, embracing a nomadic lifestyle without a permanent address. Constantly on the move every few months, he follows the best climates. He stays connected with fellow alumni from an Indianapolis-area Catholic school, especially for the all-city reunions. Patrick fondly recalls gathering with over ninety classmates from the Class of 1966 for their 50th reunion—and now, they’re approaching their 60th! He takes pride in being part of one of the school’s founding classes, which began with the Class of ‘65.

BREAKING BARRIERS: LADY TROJANS EMBRACE NEW SPORTS

In recent years, the landscape of girls' sports has undergone an exciting transformation, and several Lady Trojans are embracing the shift. Two of the fastest-growing sports—girls' wrestling and girls' flag football—are capturing the enthusiasm of young athletes, parents, and the BCHS community.

Although BCHS has previously had a girls' wrestling team, 2024 marks a milestone as the sport is officially sanctioned by the IHSAA. "We are excited to grow this program with the support of our community and dedicated athletes who want to achieve something amazing for themselves," said girls' wrestling coach Vance Erwin.

The Lady Trojan wrestlers had an impressive season, especially considering that three of the five athletes were first-time wrestlers. Despite being new to the sport, four advanced to regionals—a testament to their determination and rapid development.

"We have a philosophy of always improving no matter the results, good or bad," Erwin said. "We certainly celebrate our wins, but come back into the room every week focused on refining our skills for the next competition. I am super proud of this team and what we have done this season."

Looking ahead, recruiting is a top priority, as three of the five team members will graduate this year. "I'd love to have ten committed Lady Trojans next season," Erwin added. "By year three, if we can reach fifteen athletes, we'll be in a strong position to compete for more dual meets and a sectional title."

As girls' wrestling continues to gain traction, some parents express concerns about injuries. However, beyond the inherent risks present in any sport, wrestling offers one of the most effective forms of self-defense a young woman can learn. "Wrestling builds strength, resilience, and mental toughness while significantly boosting self-esteem and confidence," continued Erwin. "The lessons learned on the mat extend far beyond competition, empowering girls in all aspects of life."

Flag football, traditionally dominated by male athletes, is experiencing a remarkable surge in female participation. Indianapolis, a city known for its deep-rooted sports culture, is quickly becoming a hub for this growing movement. The introduction of girls' flag football programs in local schools is creating exciting new opportunities for young athletes to engage in a fast-paced sport that emphasizes teamwork, strategy, and physical fitness—without the contact associated with tackle football.

The Indianapolis Colts are playing a key role in expanding the sport, with hopes of surpassing 100 teams across Indiana next year. This milestone would earn flag football "emerging sport" status with the IHSAA, a critical step toward becoming a sanctioned varsity sport by 2027.

At Bishop Chatard, the launch of girls' flag football has been met with enthusiasm from students, parents, and alumni. "It's an exciting development to include our female students in a sport that already means so much to our school community," said Head Coach Josh Schaffner.

Reflecting on the team's inaugural season, in which they posted a 3-1 record, Schaffner recalled how the team progressed through the season. "By the end of the season, it was a completely different team. Sophomore quarterback Olivia Lehmkuhler was calling her own plays, the defense was locking down opponents—the girls' passion was on full display. It was a truly special ride."

Flag football not only builds foundational football skills, but it fosters teamwork and creates inclusive opportunities for young athletes. As one of the fastest growing sports worldwide, Bishop Chatard is proud to be a part of the movement.

"We had a great turnout," said Schaffner. "We had almost 25 girls sign up to participate and look to just grow that next year. We've had good student support. It's in the announcements at school. Some of the parents and friends come out to watch. It's really good."
